

SUSTAINABLY on the road

The talk "Sustainably on the Road" by Prof. Dr. Michael Laar (DIT's sustainability officer and cycling coordinator at ECRI) provides information on topics related to sustainable mobility.

This includes, for example, a short historical insight into its development as well as an outlook on its future potential. In addition, not only sustainable mobility in Germany will be discussed, but also how it works in other countries around the world. Questions such as "What role does the bicycle play in other countries?", "What special types of bicycles are there?", "How has the bicycle changed visually from the past to the present?" will also be answered.

Finally, there will be the opportunity to exchange views and experiences in a discussion round.
